Medical Examiner Who Conducted Autopsy Testifies at Lindbergh Trial

DISCOVERER OF BODY IS CALLED TO STAND

Relates Finding of Body in "Bushy" Part of Woods Near Lonely Road

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN International News Service Staff Correspondent

Courtroom, Flemington, N. J., Jan. 17—(INS)—Medical Examiner Charles H. Mitchell testified today at the murder trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann that the Lindbergh baby was killed by a "fractured skull."

He had conducted the autopsy.

WANTED. SPEAKERS!

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 17— (INS) — Newspapermen covering the Lindbergh trial are in demand as public speakers.

James L. Kilgallen, International News Service staff writer, delivered an address last night before the civic club of Clinton, the home town of Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck and Sheriff John H. Curtis.

A capacity audience heard the talk.

William Allen, negro laborer, first witness called to the stand today at the Bruno Richard Hauptmann murder trial, told the jury how he found the body of little Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., near a lonely New Jersey roadway on May 12, 1932-72 days after the infant was kidnaped from his nursery. He was questioned by Assistant Attorney General Robert S. Pea-

Allen explained that he was riding on a truck with Orville Wilson. The witness told how he left a truck load of wood and went into the p. m. that day.

Allen described the woods

When I get to the point where my say so counts, I shall have the word "examination" cut out of the English language on general principles. It's an ugly sounding word anyhow, and you could be much more musical about your speech if you didn't use it, besides being a little less alarming. You know good and well that when you hear the first syllable, you get scared, even if you know the stuff from beginning to end.

Another thing that's annoying about this time of year, is that you inevitably get to figuring up your standing. If you could guess right, there wouldn't be anything wrong in the sport, but you're either so bewildered at the outcome that you can't speak, or so absolutely crestfallen you can't help but swear that it has to come to be not much use. We have an adage for that too -you mustn't plan too much, my child, and then the disappointment won't be quite so overwhelming.

The bird that just breezes along with the breeze completely buffaloes me. I envy him, but I always wind up with the idea that this study stuff is not the "bunk."

FROSH WILL PLAY Students Vote On TWICE THIS

Coach Paul McBrayer's crack Kitten five will swing into action tonight when they journey out to Greendale to combat an independent team. Tomorrow night they will pit their strength against the Georgetown freshmen in a preliminary encounter to the Kentucky-Tulane tussle in the Alumni

Besides these two games the Kit-tens will play host to the Manual high squad in a preliminary game to the Tennessee-Kentucky battle, to be staged Saturday, January 26, on the Wildcat's home court. The Kentucky frosh have a combination composed of several former all-state players. Billy Spicer and J. Rice Walker, former members of the Henry Clay high team, are forhe guards, while Robinson, former K. M. I. star, holds down the other guard post. "Red" Hagen has been going strong at the other forward post. Besides these there are Lutz, Scroggins, Boland, and Evans.

The Kittens have engaged in four games this season, defeating Maysville high twice, Manual, and Lawrenceburg City High once each.

The Georgetown college freshman team is made up of the 1934 Georgetown High school team, champions of the Central Kentucky Conference.
